10 Commandments of Air Travel

These may not get you into heaven but they will improve your travel experience.

1. Thou shall promise to travel smart. Remember that if something appears to good to be true, it probably is.
2. Thou shall promise to keep your papers in order. Passports need to be acquired before you leave. Confirmations and vouchers should be kept handy and not packed in your suitcase. You will show them on check-in and again at security.
3. Thou shall arrive early to the airport. Check-in, check your bags. Remember 50 pounds per checked bag is the magic weight. Excess fees apply for overweight luggage. For the latest baggage fees and to recheck the flight departure time, visit the airline website the day before you travel.
4. Thou shall not get trapped at the security checkpoint. Going through security can be stressful. Plan on taking off your shoes, jackets and having your hand luggage searched. Read the 311 TSA flyer we provide and allow ample time.
5. Thou shall carry proper medications. Medications can be in an organizer or original bottles. If you take an organizer also take a printout of your medicine and dosage.
6. Stop and look at your possessions, make sure you have all your bags, tickets, cameras and medicine before getting on the plane. Recheck again before getting off the plane.
7. Thou shall prevent spillage in your luggage. Pack using zip freezer bags for all toiletries put in your checked luggage. This will contain spills.
8. Thou shall drink water. It is very easy to get dehydrated when traveling. Remember you can not take liquids through security but you can buy bottled water in the gate area.
9. Thou shall be comfortable. Casual clothes with a relaxed fit are best. Although there is no dress code for travel and air travel has gotten much more casual through the years, we suggest you look sharp. If you need a sweater or blanket bring it with you.
10. Thou shall understand that weather happens. Yelling at your travel agent or airline agent will not change it.
11. Thou shall promise to be polite and considerate of other travelers and the service workers and to follow the announced guidelines for cell phone usage on the plane & in the airport.

Have a great trip!

Join Mike and Jeannell on a trip to Peru this August...

This is a bucket list trip for Mike and Jeannell and they are checking off another dream trip. We are taking just seventeen travelers on this exciting trip August 24 to September 2, 2010. We'll visit the sights, markets and museums of Lima and Cuzco (Cusco). We'll visit markets, pre-Columbian fortresses, churches and museums as we learn of this ancient land. On to the Sacred Valley of the Incas and Ollantaytambo an inhabited Inca town. Take the scenic Vistadome Valley train to Aguas Calientes for a short bus trip to Machu Picchu. We'll enjoy a full day at Machu Picchu built of stone blocks in masterful precision.

This city has houses, temples, warehouses and a large central square, all connected by narrow roads and steps surrounded by terraces which were rich in agriculture.

This is the perfect time to travel to Peru. The rainy season is in our Spring, August is ideal.

We are staying in smaller local hotels with excellent ratings to experience the wonder of Peru. Complete package price $2439 per person including airfare.

For a brochure of this trip, call today or print one from our website.

I hope you will join us, Jeannell
