

Your Vehicle

If you had to buy a car today right now.....

What would you buy? Would you be practical? Keep payments low?

Now what if I told you that this car had to last you your entire life!!!

Are you considering a more reliable car? Maybe higher payments? After all you want to make sure it lasts your lifetime....right?

You made the sacrifice for the more expensive reliable vehicle!!!

- Would you maybe use the higher premium gas to keep the engine clean?
- Would you maintain the service to ensure none of the parts stress and fail?
- Maybe build a garage to keep it safe from the elements?
- Would you make sure to drive it regularly because a sitting car can have issues, right??

Isn't it true, if you know there is a problem with your car and you let it go it usually always ends up with MORE damage, more expensive repairs? Have you ever heard your mechanic say, if you would have just performed regular maintenance it would have prevented this problem from occurring...??

Please take away one very important thought.....

Your body is your vehicle and you have to live with it for the rest of your life!!!

Food is your fuel...Don't use the cheap gas! Isn't it true, if you put sugar in your gas tank your vehicle will break down?

Everything you are willing to do for your car wouldn't you want to apply to yourself!

Think about it. One body (vehicle) for life. Which is your choice?
